

Psylloi st'Ahyra

Thermaikos

digital single & video clip

2026.02.06

Psylloi st' Achyra, the alternative rock band from Thessaloniki, with their new single and video clip "Thermaikos." Released on Friday, February 6, 2026.

Psylloi recently celebrated ten years of performing with a series of explosive concerts in Thessaloniki, Athens, and other cities in Greece. It was at these concerts that they debuted their new song, "Thermaikos." The song got the audience going and immediately stood out as one of the strongest moments in the band's career so far.

Thermaikos is now available on all major streaming platforms, and a video clip directed and produced by Alexis Archontis has also been released.

Following the tradition that frequently requires Puzzlemusik's digital singles to be accompanied by a B-side (in line with the standards of the "second side" of 7" vinyl releases), "Thermaikos" is accompanied by "Progenies, Parents and Chimpanzees," a new song that also made its debut at the band's recent concerts, expanding Psylloi's sound palette with its tribal rhythms.

Psylloi st'Achira are steadily giving concerts since 2015 and still pursue their recording career, which began with their debut album in 2018 (titled after their band name) and the album "Efta meres Ntropis" ("Seven Days of Shame") that followed in 2024. "Thermaikos" joins "Ntropi," "Ta Peristeria stin Odo Monastiriou", "To Valsaki tou Kakou Eaftou," "Periodia stin Almyra," and their other well-known and beloved songs, which, with their expressiveness and social sensitivity, have moved us, thrilled us, and given us food for thought in the recent past.

Psylloi st' Achyra are: Iraklis Daitsis – guitars, vocals | Nikos Vryzas – guitars, vocals | Haris Katopis – bass, vocals, synth | Sakis Drakoulis – drums, percussion | Giorgos Lalos – trumpet, synth
